SUMMARY

Below is a summary of some key terms of this Privacy Policy and the Clarification Statement Regarding the Processing of Personal Data ("Privacy Policy"). This summary is for your reference only and does not form part of the Privacy Policy.

We at Getcontact listen to our users and we are committed to protecting the principles of privacy and fair use that underpin our values to offer a transparent and secure service. We want you to be confident that your personal data is safe and secure with us.

This Privacy Policy and all its provisions are in English. This Privacy Policy and all of its provisions may be translated into any language other than English, provided the English text prevails in the event of any execution, interpretation, controversy or judgement.

This Privacy Policy explains the following:

- how we collect your personal data;
- what personal data we collect;
- how and for what purposes we use your personal data;
- who we share your personal data with;
- what measures we take to keep your personal data secure;
- how long we keep your personal data
- age boundaries
- the rights and choices you have when it comes to your personal data.

By clicking "Agree and Continue" or a similar action when prompted or by using Getcontact application, you ("User" or "you") confirm that you have read, understood, and agreed to be bound by this Privacy Policy or the Terms of Service. You provide your explicit, informed, and freely given consent to the collection, processing, use, storage, and transfer of your personal data as described in this Privacy Policy, including transfers to jurisdictions outside your country of residence where data protection laws may differ.

If you provide us with another person's personal information, you confirm that: (i) you have obtained their prior explicit consent to share their information with us, and (ii) they are aware that their data will be processed in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

Where we process data based on your explicit consent, you may withdraw your consent and/or review your profile preferences at any time via our Privacy Management Centre or by contacting our customer support team. Upon withdrawal, we will cease further processing of your personal data, except where required by law or necessary for contractual obligations. Withdrawal of consent will not affect the lawfulness of processing based on consent before its withdrawal.

If you do not agree with this Privacy Policy or the Terms of Service, you must not proceed with accepting and should immediately cease using the Getcontact.

Your personal data is processed through cookies on our website. While necessary cookies are used for website functionality and security, other cookies are used for customization and analysis purposes. You can visit our cookie page to manage your cookie preferences and for more information.

For your enhanced security and privacy, we do not technically decrypt or retain any messages or content delivered over our Services (including your chats, media, audio or video files or location data) in the ordinary course of providing our Services to you. In addition to chat service we provide, Getcontact also technically supports communication channels which is detailly explained below sections. Everything you post in channels will be accessible to User.

For our video calling feature, we only temporarily store call duration and call ID durations. All this information is deleted immediately after the call ends. However we may store call start time and durations for up to 6 months. At the end of this period, we may store your data in an anonymized form after separating it from your personal information.

You acknowledge and expressly agree that Getcontct may record voicemail or record conversation or have recorded by a third party and store or have stored by a third party vendor such recordings, and to make such recordings available to you. We may keep this data for up to 3 months.

By using Getcontact Telco Services (including Assistant, Custom Prompt and Chatty Auntie features) and Second Phone Number Services you acknowledge and expressly agree to the collection, processing, storage, transfer and use of data generated through your interactions with these features by Getcontact. This includes, but not limited to, any custom prompts you provide, voice recordings, call conversations, call metadata, and call interactions Getcontact may record voicemail or record conversation or have the same recorded by a third party and store or have stored by a third party vendor such recordings, and to make such recordings available to you. We may keep this data for up to 3 months. Such data is used to give the Service to you, enhance, optimize, and personalize, develop, optimize our AI services through automated decision-making and machine learning processes.

Depending on your settings, if you are using private mode as anonymous user, when you search a number, your information (name, etc.) may be seen by the user you are searching in an anonymized (private mode as anonymous user). If you are not using private mode as anonymous user, your information may be viewed depending on whether the other party has Getcontact Premium.

AI Chatbot Data Collection: When users interact with Getcontact's Chatbot Service, we collect and store the content of those interactions. This may include the questions asked, the responses given by GetContact's Chatbot Service, and any feedback provided by the user.

Data Use: The data collected during interactions with Getcontact's Chatbot Service is used to improve the functionality and accuracy of GetContact's Chatbot Service, to provide personalized experiences, and for other purposes outlined in our Privacy Policy.

Data Sharing: We may share anonymized or aggregated data from Getcontact's Chatbot Service interactions with third parties for research and development purposes. We will not share personally identifiable information without explicit user consent, except as outlined in our Privacy Policy.

Before using Getcontact, you agree to comply with all laws and regulations in force in your country or state and Getcontact has no liability for your failure to do so.

Your messages and your message history are stored on your own device and are deleted from our servers as soon as it is practicably possible.

If messages or content cannot be delivered immediately. For example, if you are offline or your phone is switched off, we may keep it on our servers by taking the necessary security measures under end-to-end encryption for up to 3 (three) months days before permanent deletion, for the sole purpose to complete the delivery of the messages or content to the intended recipient.

- Privacy Policy

Your personal data is processed through cookies on our website. While necessary cookies are used for website functionality and security, other cookies are used for customization and analysis purposes. You can visit our cookie page to manage your cookie preferences and for more information.

You may also choose to provide us with information in connection with your interaction with our Services. For example, you may through our tagging functionality flag a phone number for authentication as spam, leave comments on another user's personal profile or share with us other profile information to be collected and verified within our search directory, for the purposes of optimising our Services and preventing potential fraud or unwanted spam for users active in the Getcontact community.

In order to take advantage of our Services, you may be asked to some features on your phone. To use Getcontact and enable Our Services, you must agree to share names, numbers and information contained in your contact list and we may access and collect information from. This helps us to detect spam calls, provide caller ID features, enhance the user experience and provide other functionality based on contact information. We may periodically synchronize this sharing. We may not be able to provide these features if you do not choose to enable these functions or allow us access those information.

Upon initiating use of the Assistant Service and Asistant Services in Telco Services, we will collect information about your calls answered by the Assistant and the devices you use. This information includes without limitation, app installation status, call duration, call record, call status (ongoing, completed, etc.), call content, call log and call details. Upon enabling this feature, unknown callers are prompted via an automated system to identify themselves and state the purpose of their call. All calls answered by the Assistant and therefore, the caller's reponses will be recorded and/or transcribed for in-call display and retrieval from transcripts. Consequently, we may collect information from individuals who are not our users but who interact with the call screening feature. These recordings and transcripts are stored by Getcontact and are accessible to the specific Getcontact user.Under the Call Assistant feature, the commands submitted by users through the chat interface are processed solely for the purpose of delivering and improving the call management service. Valid commands may be stored in a personal memory assigned to the user. This memory may be used to apply the user's call routing preferences and may be updated by the system based on submitted instructions. Users are notified when their memory is updated. If the user does not manually update their memory, the system may periodically provide a memory summary.

The Call Assistant feature collects data related to users' call management preferences, call logs, and call history. This data is processed solely for the purposes of service delivery, service improvement, user experience enhancement, and algorithmic performance optimization.

The data processed in connection with this feature may be handled only by Getcontact or third-party service providers authorized for service delivery. By enabling the Call Assistant feature, users are deemed to have given their explicit consent to the processing of their chat history, submitted commands, personal memory, and call-related data for the purposes described above.

The use of call data in Telco Servicesis for the purpose of improving the quality of our services and providing you with the optimal experience (such as detection and blockage of spam caller by our algorithms). Getcontact can use its machine learning to better detect and block spam (i.e., by informing our algorithms), and to improve our machine learning to provide better service etc.

When you enable the SMS spam protection feature and grant us permission, we will collect de-identified SMS and MMS text messages from senders who are not in your contacts. For the avoidance of doubt, these messages are used to help us identify and filter spam and are not connected to your personal information when we collect and store them.

We use de-identified SMS/MMS messages to improve our spam detection algorithms and enhance the effectiveness of our spam filtering service. These messages are collected anonymously and are not linked to your personal [illegible] overall service for all users.

You may request your shared data to be removed at any time to prevent further use of the information shared via the Services.

Upon initiating use of the Assistant Service in Telco Services, we will collect information about your calls answered by the Assistant and the devices you use. This information includes without limitation, app installation status, call duration, call status (ongoing, completed, etc.), call content, call log and call details. All calls answered by the Assistant will be recorded and transcribed for in-call display and retrieval from transcripts.

Getcontact offers a Call Recorder feature that processes voice data and call metadata based .This feature is entirely optional and disabled by default. When enabled by You and provided Getcontact as the default call manager, the feature automatically records incoming and outgoing GSM calls.At the beginning of each recorded call, an audible message such as “This call is being recorded by one of the participants” will be played to all parties. These recordings are stored securely and are only accessible via the Getcontact app under the 'Recent Calls' tab. Recordings cannot be downloaded and are retained for a limited duration of up to 180 days, unless deleted earlier by the user. By enabling this feature, you confirm that you are responsible for notifying and, where required, obtaining consent from other call participants, as required by the laws of your jurisdiction. Getcontact disclaims any liability related to the unlawful or unauthorized use of this functionality. This feature does not involve human access or third-party processing of your recordings. No profiling or behavioral analytics are performed based on this data.You may disable this feature at any time via the application settings. Disabling the feature halts all future recordings.

Information that you share

You share your information as you use and communicate through our Services, and we share your information to help us operate, provide, improve, understand, customize, support, and market our Services.

You share your information (including messages, media files, comments) as you use and communicate through our Services.

Your phone number, username and your profile information can be available to all users of our Services.

If you give your consent for your GPS data, we will process it in related services.

- SUMMARY
- Privacy Policy

Your personal data is processed through cookies on our website. While necessary cookies are used for website functionality and security, other cookies are used for customization and analysis purposes. You can visit our cookie page to manage your cookie preferences and for more information.

Users with whom you communicate can store or share your information (including your phone number or messages) with others on and off our Services. For example, any user can take a screenshot of your messages or comments or otherwise record the information that you distribute using our Services and send it to Getcontact or other persons or publish them on another platform. In such a case, Getcontact shall bear no liability.

Information that may be collected automatically

When you use our Services and us having obtained your explicit consent to do so we may also collect data automatically from you and/or your device which may be considered personal data under applicable data protection laws, such as:

- Data and analytics about your use of our Services;
- Your IP address and mobile device identifiers (such as your device ID, advertising ID, MAC address, IMEI);
- Data about your device, such as device name and operating system, browser type and language;
- Data we collect with cookies and similar technologies;
- Broad geographic location based on your IP address;
- Precise geo-location data and
- Data about your use of our Services, such as in application interaction and usage metrics.

Advertising ID means Apple Identifier for Advertisers ("IDFA") on Apple and for Google prior to Android 12 devices, Advertising Identity ("GAID"). These are unique identifiers for mobile device that advertisers use for interest-based advertising. They are consistent across all apps and thus allow cross-app tracking.

On Apple versions older than iOS 14.5 and iPadOS 14.5 you can opt-out this by choosing "limit ad tracking" option from privacy settings. On Google Android you can opt-out by choosing "Opt-out of interest-based ads".

On Apple versions iOS 14.5 and iPadOS 14.5 you will be given the option to opt in as part of the AppTrackingTransparency framework which we will provide you clear information of all the different requested permissions and the relevant purpose and use for each of the permissions. For Google Android 12 and all subsequent releases, you can reset your GAID or opt out of personalised ads within Google Play at your discretion and at any time.

Advertising IDs are non-permanent, non-personal identifiers, which are uniquely associated with your device. Similar technologies include tracking pixels within ads. These technologies allow companies (including marketers and advertisers) to recognise your device when you use websites and applications.

Data about your device refers to information about your device type, device model, device maker, device operating system and its language or other technical data like screen size or processor, or combination of this data available from a device for a developer for checking the device compatibility with a particular application.

Some of this information may be collected using cookies and/or similar technologies (such as "SDKs" or software development kits), as explained further below.

Information that we may obtain from third party sources

We may receive personal data about you from third party sources. For example, if you clicked on an advertisement to direct you to one of our Services we may be provided with information from which ad-network and advertising campaign the install originated from.

The data that we may collect from our partners could include;

Your personal data is processed through cookies on our website. While necessary cookies are used for website functionality and security, other cookies are used for customization and analysis purposes. You can visit our cookie page to manage your cookie preferences and for more information.

- Data we receive if you link a third-party tool with our Services (such as Facebook, Apple or Google);
- Geolocation data (such as to determine the location of your IP address);
- Data to fight fraud (such as click fraud in advertising);
- Data from platforms that our Services run on (such as to verify payment); and
- Data for advertising and analytics purposes, so we can optimise the Services we deliver to you.

We do not request or intend to collect any special or sensitive categories of personal data such as any information on health, race, religion, political opinions, sexual preferences or orientation.

You may choose to connect to our Services via a choice of third-party social platform accounts (such as Facebook, Google+, Apple or Telegram) for the strict purpose of creating and authenticating your Getcontact user profile and for logging in and registration to our Services.

If we are granted permission by you to have access to your social platform account user ID then our Services may be visible on your social platform page that lists your "applications."

Your chosen third-party social platform may automatically provide us with access to certain personal information retained by them about you, including your social platform account user ID which we may store strictly for the purpose of authenticating and retaining your account and profile preferences.

We will never store any passwords created for any third-party services. Exactly what data we receive from your social platform account will depend on your privacy settings.

Third-Party Information

We receive information about you from other users. For example, when users use our Services, they may provide your phone number, name, and other information (such as from their mobile address book, as well as by leaving comments in a special field to your personal profile) just as you may provide relevant information about them. They may also send you messages or call you.

We require each of those users to have lawful rights to collect, use, and share your information before providing any information to us and we are not responsible for the disclosure of information about privacy (including personal data) as a result of the user's actions during the use of the Services. If a comment left on a user's personal profile violates the Getcontact Code of Conduct, the user of this profile can send us a request to delete such a comment through the customer support here. A request to delete a comment, regardless of reasoning, is subject to consideration and a decision is made accordingly on the basis of the Privacy Policy, Terms of Use, Code of Conduct, legislation in force in the country of use of the Services. We will make efforts to respond promptly to such a request, but in any case, the period of consideration and response to the request will not exceed 30 days from the date of receipt of such a request.

Getcontact may accesses notifications and collects personal data to enhance user experience. This data is utilized to display call information and improve app functionality and give Services.

4. How and for what purposes do we use your personal data ?

Subject always to obtaining your prior consent and your preference selections in application settings, we may use your personal data in the following ways:

- To create user accounts and profiles;
- To identify and verify spam or malicious caller IDs;

- SUMMARY
- Privacy Policy

Your personal data is processed through cookies on our website. While necessary cookies are used for website functionality and security, other cookies are used for customization and analysis purposes. You can visit our cookie page to manage your cookie preferences and for more information.

- To perform on any applicable contractual obligations and
- To send you service related communications including confirmations, technical notices, updates, security alerts, support or administrative messages and notifications related to your profile visits, directory searches and whether profile related tags have been viewed or any new tags added to the Getcontact directory.

More specifically, we may use your personal data to enable our in-application caller identification and verification function that allows for the verification of unidentified numbers and other data in call or message logs, including the identification of names or tags associated with a certain number related to the incoming or outgoing calls on your device. This function can only disclose personal data related to a number if the number is already available for search in a public database or the number has been associated to a Getcontact user who has consented to his or her number and profile information to be made available for search and for publication as part of the Getcontact directory.

We process your personal data when we must comply with a legal obligation or have a legitimate interest. Such legitimate interests of Getcontact include the protection and maintenance of the security and technical infrastructure of our Services, to create and update our active fraud and spam directories, to implement our spam and unwanted call locking features, understand and improve our Services and to administer our technical and customer support. Where we process data based on your explicit consent, you may withdraw your consent and/or review your profile preferences at any time via our Privacy Management Centre.

2. to personalise and improve aspects of our Services. For example;

- To respond to your customer support requests;
- To receive error messages about any issues you / your device encounters with our Services to enable us to fix bugs and interoperability issues;
- To detecting and preventing illegal activities;
- To track application installs, for purposes of measuring the effect of our marketing campaigns;
- To conduct optional user feedback surveys;
- To remember you next time you visit one of our Services; and
- Communicate with you about promotions, rewards, upcoming events, and other news about products and services offered by us.

We may use your personal data to share information with you related to your interaction with our services including the activity of any connections you may have in common, directly or indirectly, with other users of our Services to provide notifications related to profile visits, profile tags added or viewed and any related profile directory searches via our functions and/or in application features.

3. to communicate with you, including some or all of the following:

- To provide you with in-app offers and rewards based on your interaction with our Services;
- To serve you with relevant targeted advertisements; and
- To send you marketing communications and/or newsletters if you have subscribed for them about rewards and promotions.
- To send you a notification when any related profile tag has been added or viewed in relation to your profile or of any other profile available in the Getcontact directory subject to preference settings selected in application

4. for research, such as analysing market trends and customer demographics;

5. to comply with applicable laws and regulations and to provide disclosure to the authorities when required by applicable law.

11. Do we host and/or transfer your personal data outside of the country you are resident?

Our Services are global by nature and your personal data may be hosted/transferred in/to, and processed in, countries other than the country in which you are resident. These countries may have data protection laws that are different to the laws of your country. We take steps to ensure adequate safeguards are in place to protect your data as explained in our Privacy Statement. Adequate safeguards that our partners may use include standard contractual clauses approved by EU Commission and the Privacy Shield certification in case of transfers to the USA.

Your personal data will and may be transferred to our Group Companies, third party service providers and partners located outside the borders of your country, based on your approval. By accepting our terms of service, you are deemed to have consented to the processing and transfer of your personal data abroad. If you do not accept the transfer of your personal data abroad, you can choose not to use our Services.

12. Age Limits

We do not knowingly collect or solicit personal data about or direct or target interest-based advertising to anyone under the age of 18 years or knowingly allow such persons to use our Services. If you learn that your child has provided us with personal data without your consent, then you may alert our customer support here. If we learn that we have collected personal data from children under 18, then we will promptly take steps to delete that data as soon as it is practicably possible.
