How Remini protects your images and other data

We want to help you understand how Remini processes your personal data, as well your options when it comes to managing it. It's important that you also understand how Remini protects your images and videos.

You'll find all this information in our privacy policy, which is below.

The following bullets highlight a few key details about the app and our security measures:

- Remini is a photo- and video-editing app. It enhances photos and videos by improving aspects such as image resolution and colors. Also, it gives you the ability to generate new images with AI.
- Remini's technologies are not used to identify or authenticate people in the images or videos.
- You retain control over the images and videos you upload, enhance, and generate using Remini. We don't sell, trade, or claim ownership of any of your images or videos—no matter whether you use Remini to edit your existing images or videos or to generate new ones.
- Your images and videos aren't used to train our AI technologies, unless you explicitly opt in for that.
- Your images and videos are safeguarded with appropriate security measures, following privacy and data protection laws and industry standards. This includes encryption and cloud storage for enhanced security.

To know how we process your personal data when using Remini, please refer to the privacy policy.

Privacy policy

We're Bending Spoons S.p.A. ("we" or "us"), the parent company of AI Creativity S.r.l. With this privacy policy, we'll explain how we process the personal data of users ("user" or "you") of the Remini mobile application ("app"), or those who otherwise interact with us.
