Privacy Policy

1. ABOUT

Figma, Inc. and its affiliates' ("Figma," "we," "us," and "our") goal is to make design accessible to all. This Privacy Policy will help you understand how we collect, use and disclose your personal information and assist you in exercising the privacy rights available to you.

Capitalized terms not defined in this Privacy Policy have the meanings set forth in our Terms of Service.

2. SCOPE

This Privacy Policy applies to personal information processed by us, including on our websites (e.g., figma.com, designsystems.com and any other websites that we own or operate), our mobile applications, our application program interfaces, our design tool services, and our related online and offline offerings (collectively, the "Services").

This Privacy Policy does not apply to any third-party websites, services or applications, even if they are accessible through our Services. In addition, a separate privacy notice, available upon request if it applies to you, governs processing relating to our current employees and contractors.

Communication Information. We collect personal information from you such as email address, phone number, mailing address, and marketing preferences when you request information about the Services, register for our newsletter, or otherwise communicate with us.

Candidate Information. We may post job openings and opportunities on the Services. If you reply to one of these postings or otherwise provide us with your candidacy information, we will collect and process the information you provide to us.

Customer Content. We collect applications and materials that are developed by you on the Services or uploaded to the Services by you. Customer Content may include personal information such as any names you use in your designs or your voice if you use any Figma voice features.

Usage Data. We collect and analyze data and other information relating to the access, use, and performance of the Services ("Usage Data"). Examples of Usage Data include technical logs, metadata, telemetry data, Technical Data, as defined below, and usage information about Customer Content, such as how many times it is accessed. For clarity, Usage Data excludes Customer Content itself. Usage Data may include personal information such as information about your interactions with other users.

Customer Service Information (including Training and Quality Assurance). If you call or otherwise interact with Figma's sales, customer service or support personnel, we collect the information you provide to our representatives. In addition, we may record telephone calls or video conferences between you and our representatives for training or quality assurance purposes.

about your browser, operating system or device, location information (inferred from your IP address), internet service provider, pages that you visit, information about the links you click, and information about how you interact with and use the Services.

With your permission, we may also collect information about your operating system's installed fonts in connection with providing the Services to you.

Cookies, Pixel Tags/Web Beacons, and Analytics Information. We, as well as third parties that may provide content, advertising, or other functionality on or in connection with the Services, may use cookies, pixel tags, local storage, and other technologies ("Technologies") to automatically collect information through the Services. Technologies are essentially small data files placed on your device that allow us and our partners to record certain pieces of information whenever you visit or interact with our Services.

- Cookies. Cookies are small text files placed in device browsers to store their preferences. For more information about how to control what data are collected by cookies, see below in the "Your Choices" section.
- Pixel Tags/Web Beacons. A pixel tag (also known as a web beacon) is a piece of code embedded in the Services that collects information about engagement on the Services. The use of a pixel tag allows us to record, for example, that a user has visited a particular web page or clicked on a particular advertisement. We may also include web beacons in e-mails to understand whether messages have been opened, acted on, or forwarded.

Analytics. We use Google Analytics and other service providers to collect and process analytics information on our Services. For more information about how Google uses data, please visit www.google.com/policies/privacy/partners/. You can opt out of Google Analytics' collection and processing of d about you, and grant permission to others to see, disclose, edit, copy and download that content based on settings you or your administrator (if applicable) select. In addition, some of the collaboration features of the Services display some or all of your information to other Service users when you disclose or interact with specific content. For example, when you comment, we display your profile picture (if you upload one) and name next to your comments so that other users with access to the comment know who made it. Similarly, when you join a team, your name, profile picture and contact information will be displayed in a list for other team members so they can find and interact with you. When you interact with a user's file, information about your interaction, including your IP address and the actions you've taken in connection with the file, may be made available to the file's administrator. When you view a file, the fact that you viewed the file and when you viewed the file may be available to other viewers of the file. If your Figma account has the "domain capture" functionality enabled, your name, email and profile picture (if you upload one) will be disclosed to other users across your Figma organization who share the same email domain. Please note that while we require all our users to comply with our acceptable use policy, we are not responsible for privacy practices of users who receive information about you through the Services.

Figma K12 Educational Accounts & Domain Capture. Figma for Education's Enterprise accounts have domain capture functionality enabled by default in order to protect against unauthorized access from users with a different email domain. With domain capture enabled your name, email and profile picture (if you upload one) will be disclosed to other users across your Figma organization. This should be noted if email domains are shared across multiple educational institutions.

Your Organization and Administrator. If you access the Services on behalf of an organization (such as with your organization's domain) or have your account paid for by another party, we will disclose your information to that organization or paying party at its request and give such organization certain rights over your information. For example, your organization may request that we provide extra security controls around your account to protect information about your organization or your organization may request that we link your Figma account with your organization's account to enhance collaboration. If you are the administrator of a team, organization or other account holder within the Services, we may disclose your contact information to current or past Service users related to you, for the purpose of facilitating Service-related requests. Please note that your information may also be subject to your organization's privacy policy, and we are not responsible for the privacy or security practices of our customers.

Community Creators. If you acquire any resources from third-party creators on Figma Community (available at www.figma.com/community), in connection with the transaction we will disclose your relevant personal information to such creators, including your name and any other information reasonably related to the transaction. Any other information shared between you and the creator (if any) is governed by the creator's privacy policy.

Third-Party Platforms and Services. We will disclose certain personal information to third-party platforms and/or services if you have expressly consented or requested that we do so. Please note we do not endorse, screen or approve, and are not responsible for, the practices or conduct of such third-party services.

Disclosure in the Event of Merger, Sale, or Other Asset Transfer. If we are involved in a merger, acquisition, financing due diligence, reorganization, bankruptcy, receivership, purchase or sale of assets, or transition of service to another provider, then your information may be sold or transferred in accordance with our legitimate interests in administering our business as part of such a transaction, as permitted by law and/or contract.

6. INTERNATIONAL DATA TRANSFERS

The personal information we process may be transferred to, processed and stored in jurisdictions which may have data protection laws that are different from the laws where you are located (and, in some cases, may not be as protective), and may be subject to access requests from governments, courts, or law enforcement in those jurisdictions according to applicable laws. We endeavor to safeguard your personal information in accordance with the requirements of applicable laws.

Specifically, all personal information we process is transferred to, processed and stored in the United States, where our headquarters and our main servers are located. Our group affiliates and our third party service providers and partners operate in the geographies identified on https://www.figma.com/sub-processors/ . This means that when we collect your personal information, we will process it in any of these countries.

Where we transfer your personal information to countries and territories outside of the European Economic Area ("EEA"), Switzerland and the UK which have been formally recognized as providing an adequate level of protection for personal information, we rely on the relevant "adequacy decisions" and "adequacy regulations" from the European Commission, Swiss and UK authorities.

PRIVACY FRAMEWORK

Figma, Inc. (for the purposes of this section, “Figma”, “we”, or “us”) complies with the EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (EU-U.S. DPF) and the UK Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF, and the Swiss-U.S. Data Privacy Framework (Swiss-U.S. DPF) as set forth by the U.S. Department of Commerce. Figma has certified to the U.S. Department of Commerce that it adheres to the EU-U.S. Data Privacy Framework Principles (EU-U.S. DPF Principles) with regard to the processing of personal data received from the European Union and the United Kingdom in reliance on the EU-U.S. DPF and the UK Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF. Figma has certified to the U.S. Department of Commerce that it adheres to the Swiss-U.S. Data Privacy Framework Principles (Swiss-U.S. DPF Principles) with regard to the processing of personal data received from Switzerland in reliance on the Swiss-U.S. DPF. If there is any conflict between the terms in this privacy policy and the DPF Principles, the DPF Principles shall govern. To learn more about the Data Privacy Framework (DPF) Program, and to view our certification, please visit https://www.dataprivacyframework.gov/.

The Federal Trade Commission has jurisdiction over our compliance with the EU-U.S. DPF, the UK Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF, and the Swiss-U.S. DPF.

The types of personal information we receive in the U.S., as well as the purposes for which we collect and use it, are set out in Section 3 and 4 above. We will give you an opportunity to opt out where personal information we control about you is to be disclosed to an independent third party, or is to be used for a purpose that is materially different from those set out in this Privacy Policy. If you otherwise wish to limit the use or disclosure of your personal information, please contact us via the contact details set out below.

We commit to resolve DPF-related complaints about our collection and use of your personal information. EU, UK and Swiss individuals with inquiries or complaints regarding our handling of personal information received in reliance on the EU-U.S. DPF, the UK Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF and the Swiss-U.S. DPF should first contact us using the contact details provided below. We will investigate and attempt to resolve any DPF-related complaints or disputes within forty-five (45) days of receipt.

If you have an unresolved DPF complaint that we have not addressed satisfactorily, we have further committed to refer unresolved complaints to JAMS Data Privacy Dispute Resolution Program, an independent dispute resolution provider located in the U.S. made available free of charge. For more information or to submit a complaint please visit: https://www.jamsadr.com/DPF-Dispute-Resolution.

Under certain conditions, more fully described on the Data Privacy Framework website, you may be entitled to invoke binding arbitration when other dispute resolution options do not satisfactorily resolve your concerns.

We reserve the right to amend this section from time to time consistent with the EU-U.S. DPF, the UK Extension to the EU-U.S. DPF, and the Swiss-U.S. DPF requirements.

Additional Disclosures for California Residents

Notice of Right to Opt-Out of "Sale" of Personal Information and/or "Sharing" for "Cross-Context Behavioral Advertising". California residents have the right to opt out of the "sale" of personal information and the "sharing" of personal information for "cross-context behavioral advertising." California residents may exercise these rights by clicking on the "Manage Cookies" link in the footer of figma.com (users may need to log out of their Figma account to access the footer) and following the instructions on that page.

Disclosure Regarding Individuals Under the Age of 16. Figma does not have actual knowledge of any "sale" of personal information of minors under 16 years of age. Figma does not have actual knowledge of any "sharing" of personal information of minors under 16 years of age for "cross-context behavioral advertising."

Disclosure Regarding Sensitive Personal Information. Figma only uses and discloses "sensitive personal information" as defined by the CCPA for the following purposes:

If you are a resident of Nevada, you have the right to opt out of the sale of certain Personal Information to third parties who intend to license or sell that Personal Information. You can exercise your right by contacting us as described below with the subject line "Nevada Do Not Sell Request" and providing us with your name and the email address associated with your account. As defined by Nevada Revised Statutes Chapter 603A, we do not currently sell Personal Information of Nevada residents.

15. CHILDREN'S INFORMATION

The Services are not directed to children under 13 ((or other age as required by local law - please see Section 3. In many jurisdictions, including California and the EU, the Services may not be used by anyone under 16), and, except for limited circumstances set forth below, we do not knowingly collect personal information from children. If you learn that your child has provided us with personal information without your consent, you may contact us as set forth below. If we learn that we have collected a child's personal information in violation of applicable law, we will promptly take steps to delete such information and terminate the child's account, or, if appropriate and possible, seek written consent from such child's guardian.

Although our Services are designed for a general audience, in some cases students under the age of thirteen may use the Services pursuant to an agreement we have with the student's educational institution. For more details regarding our processing of personal information that we collect from children in the United States, please see our Supplemental Privacy Policy for Children attached hereto as Exhibit A.

Personal Information Figma Collects from Children

Figma only collects personal information from a Child in connection with the creation or administration of the Child's account or when the Child uses the Services in connection with their account.

Personal information that Figma collects in connection with the creation or administration of a Child's account may include the Child's first and last name, email address, IP address, photograph (if uploaded by Child for profile), phone number if 2FA is enabled, job title, and educational records or details (including those provided by a school and/or school district). In addition, if a Child communicates with Figma for support or other purposes, Figma may collect personal information from the Child.

Figma may collect certain personal information from Children automatically when they use our Services, such as Internet protocol (IP) address, user settings, cookie identifiers, mobile advertising and other unique identifiers, browser or device information, and Internet service provider. Figma may also automatically collect personal information regarding a Child's use of our Services, such as analytics about a Child's use of the Services, personal information contained in any content a Child generates using our Services, details about the Child's files created on our Services, pages that a Child visits, information about the links a Child clicks, the types of content a Child interacts with, the frequency and duration of a Child's activities, and other information about how a Child uses our Services.

How Figma Uses Children's Personal Information

Figma only uses personal information collected from Children to provide the Services.

- If Figma believes the disclosure is necessary or appropriate to protect the rights, property, or safety of Figma, its customers or others, including to:
  - protect the safety of a Child;
  - protect the safety and security of the Services; or
  - enable Figma to take precautions against liability.

- To law enforcement agencies or for an investigation related to public safety.

In addition, if Figma is involved in a merger, divestiture, restructuring, reorganization, dissolution, or other sale or transfer of some or all of Figma's assets, whether as a going concern or as part of bankruptcy, liquidation, or similar proceeding or event, Figma may transfer the Children's personal information it has collected or maintain to the buyer or other successor.

Figma K12 Educational Accounts & Domain Capture. Figma for Education's Enterprise accounts have domain capture functionality enabled by default in order to protect against unauthorized access from users with a different email domain. With domain capture enabled your name, email and profile picture (if you upload one) will be disclosed to other users across your Figma organization. This should be noted if email domains are shared across multiple educational institutions.
