Responsibilities

23.1 Data controller

EA is responsible for the lawful processing of personal data and compliance with data protection and data security requirements as set out in this policy or pursuant to applicable law. In particular, for:

1. the observance of the “privacy by design” and “privacy by default” principles when developing new data processing activities,
2. the effective handling of data subjects’ rights requests,
3. the conducting of data protection impact assessments for personal data processing with the assistance of the data protection officer,
4. the appointment of a data processor,
5. the notification of a personal data breach to the supervisory authority, the data subject and other data controllers in accordance with the Data Breach Notification Policy of EA.
6. the provision of employee awareness training.

23.2 Data processor

The data processor is responsible for processing personal data according to the instructions received from the data controller. Furthermore, the data processor is responsible for notifying the data controller of a data protection breach without delay and specifically within 24 hours.

Processing by a data processor shall be governed by a contract, that is binding on the processor with regard to EA and that sets out the subject-matter and duration of the processing, the nature and purpose of the processing, the type of personal data and categories of data subjects and the obligations and rights of the controller. That contract covers all the following elements:

- ü processing of data can only occur on the basis of the instructions from the controller;
- ü the processor must employ staff with confidentiality obligations;
- ü the processor must take the required security measures;
- ü The conditions for engaging a service provider (sub-processor). Specifically, the data processor must contractually grant that any eventual sub-contractor instructed to perform the data processing, complies with the same instructions received from EA;
- ü how to handle data subject requests;
- ü reporting and assistance in the event of a personal data breach;
- ü the deletion or return of all personal data at end of contract ; and
- ü The right to obtain information from the processor demonstrating its compliance and allow on-site inspections.

However, EA, as data controller, remains the ultimate responsible party towards the relevant persons, in particular the data subject and the authorities.

23.3 Executive management

The executive management of EA is responsible for implementing this policy and shall provide the necessary personnel and financial resources. EA's managers are required to enforce the policy in their area of responsibility and ensure that employees, individuals, and entities for which they are responsible, are aware of, understand, and adhere to the requirements of this policy, and are appropriately trained to fully discharge this responsibility.
