I. INTERPRETATION

All capitalised but undefined terms used shall bear the same meaning as those defined in the Terms of Use (https://www.grab.com/sg/terms-policies/gfb-terms-and-conditions/). This Addendum forms part of the Privacy Notice and prevails for Grab for Business services if there is any inconsistency.

II. GRAB'S RELATIONSHIP WITH USERS AND CLIENTS

How Grab for Business works

Grab for Business allows organisations ("Client") to manage and pay for work-related Grab Services used by their employees, guests or contractors ("Authorized Users").

Authorized Users can tag their transactions as either "business" or "personal". For business-tagged transactions, Grab discloses to Client information such as the Authorized User's identifiers and detailed booking information to facilitate corporate billing.

Separately, individual users may also choose to set up a "business profile" even if their employer is not a Client. This lets them tag business-related transactions and organize consolidated reports to facilitate the manual claims submission to their employers.

Authorized Users and individual users are collectively referred to as "Users" in this Addendum.

Grab is a data controller, so are our Clients

Grab does not process any Personal Data for and on behalf of the Client. Regardless of who pays for the business-related expense, Grab independently determines how and why it processes the User's Personal Data (e.g. for service fulfillment, safety, billing or analytics) in accordance with its own legal obligations and privacy practices, not on the instructions of the Client.

Index

Accordingly, Grab is not the data processor of the Client, but an independent data controller in respect of all Personal Data that it processes under Grab for Business. Likewise, the Client is an independent data controller of the Personal Data that it discloses to and/or receives from Grab.

III. WHAT PERSONAL DATA IS COLLECTED, PROCESSED AND DISCLOSED

What Grab collects as part of Grab for Business

In order to provide the Grab for Business feature, the User or the Client will be required to provide the following information about the User to Grab:

- full name;
- business email address; and
- other identifying information about the User as reasonably requested by Grab.

Grab will use this information for the purposes of:

- authenticating the User;
- where applicable, linking the Authorised User's account with the Client's Grab for Business account or tracking the Authorised User's business profile bookings on our Platforms, as the case may be;
- where applicable, verifying the corporate billing status of such Authorised User from time to time; and
- contacting the User in accordance with the purposes set out in the Privacy Notice.

Upon onboarding a User to the App, Grab will process the Personal Data of the User in accordance with the Grab Privacy Notice and this Addendum.

What Grab discloses to its Clients

Grab will disclose relevant trip and booking information as determined by Grab from time to time to the Client to facilitate corporate billing.

What Grab discloses to its individual users

Depending on the business profile settings selected by the individual user, the user may retrieve and generate reports containing relevant trip and booking information.

IV. PARTIES' OBLIGATIONS

As independent data controllers, Client and Grab shall each comply with their respective obligations under applicable data protection laws when processing Personal Data, including:

- informing their data subjects how each processes Personal Data and allows the exercise of privacy rights;
- obtaining the necessary consents (if applicable) for disclosure of Personal Data to facilitate Grab for Business feature; and
