This Privacy Policy aims to acquaint you with the main moments related to the processing of your personal data. The Data Controller reserves the right to update it, and its current version will be at your disposal at any time on the Service as listed above.

I. Definitions

1. Cookies: means small pieces of data stored on the user's device.

2. Data controller: means a person who (either alone or jointly or in common with other persons) determines the purposes for which and the way any personal data are, or are to be, processed.

3. Data processor or service providers: means a natural or legal person, public authority, agency, or other body (other than an employee of the Data Controller) who processes the data on behalf of the Data Controller.

4. Personal data: means any information relating to an identified or identifiable natural person (the "Data Subject") via an identifier such as a name, an identification number, location data, an online identifier or to one or more factors specific to the physical, physiological, genetic, mental, economic, cultural, or social identity of that natural person.

5. Processing: means any operation or set of operations which is performed on Personal Data or on sets of Personal Data, whether by automated means, such as collection, recording, organization, structuring, storage, adaptation or alteration, retrieval, consultatio g available, a

Some vendors may process your personal data on the basis of legitimate interest, which you can object to by managing your options below. Look for a link at the bottom of this page or in the site menu to manage or withdraw consent in privacy and cookie settings.

2.1.1 In order for the Processing to be lawful, the Data Controller processes your Personal Data based on legitimate grounds, when necessary, in the context of a contract or with an expressed intention to conclude such.

2.1.2 The principle of good faith and transparency requires the Data Controller to ensure that all information and communication related to the Processing of your Personal Data is easily accessible and understandable, using clear and unambiguous wording. This principle applies to the information that you as a Data Subject receive about the identity of the Data Controller and the purposes of the Processing, as well as to the additional information guaranteeing conscientious and transparent Processing.

2.1.3 Compliance with the third principle, namely to minimize data and limit the purposes and period of storage by the Data Controller, is ensured by collecting only those data that are absolutely necessary for the purposes and activities of the Data Controller and its compliance with the legal requirements, as they are processed only for specific, explicitly stated and legitimate purposes, and are not processed in a way incompatible with these purposes, and are stored for a period not longer than necessary or provided by the law.

2.1.4 The principle of accuracy requires that all Personal Data processed by the Data Controller be accurate and kept up to date, and for this purpose the Data Controller relies on you as a Data Subject, on your correctness and assistance. If it proves impossible to correct inaccurate Personal Data provided by you, the Data Controller shall delete them in a timely manner, considering the purposes for which they are processed.
