Privacy Policy

Protecting your private information is our priority. This Privacy Policy tells you the types of information we collect about you when you visit our website or use our products and services, how we use that information, and when we may share your information. This Privacy Policy may change from time to time so please check this policy regularly.

This website and our products and services are not intended for children. We do not knowingly collect data relating to anyone under the age of 16 and if you are under 16, you are not permitted to use our products and services.

For the purposes of this Privacy Policy, the term “personal data” means any information which identifies you or which allows you to be identified when combined with other information.

1. Who we are and what we do

Scandit comprises various group companies, including Scandit AG (Hardturmstrasse 181 8005, Zurich, Switzerland) and its affiliates Scandit Ltd (UK), Scandit, Inc. (US), Scandit Sp. z.o.o. (Poland), and Scandit Finland Oy (Finland), and Scandit GK (Japan) (Scandit Group). This Privacy Policy is issued on behalf of the Scandit Group so when we mention Scandit, we, us or our in this Privacy Policy, we are referring to the relevant company in the Scandit Group responsible for processing your data. Scandit AG is the data controller and and any other relevant legislation. When you use our Scandit Apps (User(s)), Scandit AG is the data controller in respect of the data that is transmitted to us from your use of the Scandit App. Scandit is also the data controller with respect to personal data we collect from prospective customers, customers, suppliers, and other third parties in the ordinary course of business, including emails and other contact information. This Privacy Policy applies both our customers and, with regard to transparency provisions according to GDPR, to other individuals whose data we may collect and process in the ordinary course of business, including in respect of any Usage Data transmitted to us when you are the User of our Scandit Apps. When you use our other products and services (including when integrated into 3rd Party Apps) we are the data processor in respect of any Usage Data transmitted to us, which will be in accordance with our terms and conditions for software and services. In such cases, you should address all your queries and requests to exercise your rights to the applicable 3rd Party App provider, who is the data controller, and most of this Privacy Policy will not apply to you.

If you wish to contact us or exercise your privacy rights, please use the following contact details:

2. The Data we Collect about you

We may collect and use your personal information to operate our website(s) and to deliver the products and services you have requested. We encourage Users of our free Scandit Apps not to scan any data which contains personal data.

We may collect, use, store and transfer different kinds of personal data about you which we have grouped together as follows:

- Identity Data includes first name, maiden name, last name, username or similar identifier, company name, job title, industry sector and country of residence.
- Contact Data includes billing address, delivery address, email address and telephone numbers.
- Financial Data includes bank account and payment card details.
- Transaction Data includes details about payments to and from you and other details of products and services you have purchased from us.
- Technical Data includes information about how you access and use our websites such as your internet protocol (IP) address, your login data, browser type and version, time zone setting and location, browser plug-in types and versions, operating system and platform and other technology on the devices you use to access our websites, the pages you have visited on our websites and the links you have followed on them.
- Profile Data includes your username and password, purchases or orders made by you, your interests, preferences, feedback and survey responses.

Engine Results (including generic data capture information and barcode decoding-related scan engine data and related device status information). In the case of Usage Data (in particular any Barcode Data or Scan Engine Results) comprising personal data, we encourage Users not to scan such personal data so it is not transmitted to us.

- Marketing and Communications Data includes your preferences in receiving marketing communications from us and our third parties and your communication preferences.
- Employment Data includes your current and past employment experience, qualifications, skills, interests and any other information disclosed by you in relation to an application for a role within Scandit.

We also collect, use and share Aggregated Data such as statistical or demographic data for any purpose. Aggregated Data may be derived from your personal data but is not considered personal data in law as this data does not directly or indirectly reveal your identity. For example, we may aggregate your Usage Data to calculate the percentage of users accessing our software (including amount of usage) or a specific website feature. However, if we combine or connect Aggregated Data with your personal data so that it can directly or indirectly identify you, we treat the combined data as personal data which will be used in accordance with this Privacy Policy.

We do not collect any Special Categories of Personal Data about you (such as details about your race or ethnicity, religious or philosophical beliefs, sex life, sexual orientation, political opinions, trade union membership, information about your health and genetic and biometric data). Nor do we collect any information about criminal convictions and offences.

3. How your personal data is collected

We use different methods to collect data from and about you including through:

Direct interactions. You may give us your name, email address and Contact Data in person, or by filling in forms on our website or in connection with our mobile applications or by

Note that we may process your personal data for more than one lawful ground depending on the specific purpose for which we are using your data. Please contact us if you need details about the specific legal ground we are relying on to process your personal data where more than one ground has been set out in the table above.

Where we need to collect personal data by law, or under the terms of a contract we have with you and you do not provide that data when requested, we may not be able to perform the contract we have or are trying to enter into with you (for example, to provide you with our products or services). In this case, we may have to cancel a product or service you have with us but we will notify you of this at the time.

Marketing

You will receive marketing communications from us via email or text message if you have requested information from us or purchased products or services from us or if you provided us with your details when you registered with us or if you consented to it and, in each case, you have not opted out of receiving that marketing. You will receive marketing communications from us, such as information about products and services or surveys via email or text message if you have if you consented to it and, in each case, you have not opted out of receiving that marketing.

We do not sell, rent or lease or provide in any other way our customer lists to third parties.

Opt-Out & Unsubscribe

You can ask us or our third-party partners to stop sending you marketing messages, operational emails or other information by following the opt-out links on any marketing message sent to you or by contacting us at any time as follows:

- Unsubscribe from all marketing communications using this link.
- To stop receiving operational emails you can deactivate your account by contacting us.

Third-party links and third-party services

Our website may include links to third-party websites, applications and/or plug-ins. Clicking on those links or enabling those connections may allow third parties to collect or share data about you. We do not control these third-party websites, applications or services and are not responsible for their privacy practices or privacy statements. When you leave our website, we encourage you to read the privacy policy of every website you visit.

5. How we may share your personal data

We may have to share your personal data with the parties set out below for the purposes set out in the table in paragraph 4 above:

- Other companies in the Scandit Group.
- Our third-party service providers who perform functions on our behalf in connection with the operation of our business such as IT service providers and system administrators, third parties who host and manage data or provide programming or technical support, deliver our products and services, conduct reference checks on candidates on our behalf, etc.
- Credit card payments are directly processed by our third-party payment platforms.
- Professional advisers including lawyers, bankers, auditors and who provide consultancy, banking, legal, insurance and accounting services.
- Our third-party analytics partners to analyse website traffic and understand User or customer needs and trends or our third-party marketing service providers to help us to communicate with Users or customers.
- Third parties if we are required to do so by law, or if we believe that such action is necessary to: (a) fulfil a government, or regulatory authority request; (b) conform with accordance with the law. We do not allow our third-party service providers to use your personal data for their own purposes and only permit them to process your personal data for specified purposes and in accordance with our instructions.

Where we are a data processor, we may also use sub-processors. A sub-processor is a third-party data processor that processes or may access or process your data (which may include your personal data) or your customers' data, where we are acting as a data processor. Our current list of sub-processors is available here. We have written agreements with each sub-processor to ensure their processing practices are compliant with applicable data protection laws. We may update our list of sub-processors to appoint or remove sub-processors from time-to-time and we will notify you when we do so. If you do not object to any new sub-processor within 30 days of our notice, you are deemed to accept the new sub-processor appointment. If you have any questions or need more information on this topic, please email us at privacy@scandit.com.

6. International transfers

We may share your personal data within the Scandit Group, which may be based on our legitimate interest to pursue internal administrative, organisational, or technological purposes. This will involve transferring your data outside the European Economic Area (EEA).

Our third-party service providers may be based outside the EEA and when they are their processing of your personal data will involve a transfer of data outside the EEA. Whenever we transfer your personal data out of the EEA, we ensure a similar degree of protection is afforded to it by ensuring at least one of the following safeguards is implemented:

- We will only transfer your personal data to countries that have been deemed to provide an adequate level of protection for personal data by the European Commission. For further details, see European Commission: Adequacy of the protection of personal data in non-EU countries.

We have put in place appropriate security measures to prevent your personal data from being accidentally lost, used or accessed in an unauthorised way, altered or disclosed. In addition, we limit access to your personal data to those employees, agents, contractors and other third parties who have a business need to know. They will only process your personal data on our instructions and they are subject to a duty of confidentiality.

We have put in place procedures to deal with any suspected personal data breach and will notify you and any applicable regulator of a breach where we are legally required to do so.

When personal information (such as a credit card number) is transmitted to other websites, it is protected through the use of encryption, such as the Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) protocol.

8. Data retention

We will only retain your personal data for as long as necessary to fulfil the purposes for which we collected it, including to comply with our legal, accounting or reporting requirements. We may keep business contacts and information on your account required to access our Scandit Apps indefinitely, until you inform us you no longer want us to be in touch or we have determined that your information should be deleted or rectified because it is no longer relevant.

To determine the appropriate retention period for personal data, we consider the amount, nature, and sensitivity of the personal data, the potential risk of harm from unauthorised use or disclosure of your personal data, the purposes for which we process your personal data and whether we can achieve those purposes through other means, and the applicable legal requirements.

You can request details of retention periods for different aspects of your personal data by contacting us at privacy@scandit.com or as set out above.

In some circumstances we may anonymise your personal data (so that it can no longer be associated with you) for analytical, research and statistical purposes and to help us to Request correction of the personal data that we hold about you. This enables you to have any incomplete or inaccurate data we hold about you corrected, though we may need to verify the accuracy of the new data you provide to us.

Request erasure of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to delete or remove personal data where there is no good reason for us continuing to process it. You also have the right to ask us to delete or remove your personal data where you have successfully exercised your right to object to processing (see below), where we may have processed your information unlawfully or where we are required to erase your personal data to comply with local law. Note, however, that we may not always be able to comply with your request of erasure for specific legal reasons such as our legitimate interests which will be notified to you, if applicable, after you have made your request.

Object to processing of your personal data where we are relying on a legitimate interest (or those of a third party) and there is something about your particular situation which makes you want to object to processing on this ground as you feel it impacts on your fundamental rights and freedoms. You also have the right to object where we are processing your personal data for direct marketing purposes. In some cases, we may demonstrate that we have compelling legitimate grounds to process your information which override your rights and freedoms.

Request restriction of processing of your personal data. This enables you to ask us to suspend the processing of your personal data in the following scenarios: (a) if you want us to establish the data's accuracy; (b) where our use of the data is unlawful but you do not want us to erase it; (c) where you need us to hold the data even if we no longer require it as you need it to establish, exercise or defend legal claims; or (d) you have objected to our use of your data but we need to verify whether we have overriding legitimate grounds to use it.

Request the transfer of your personal data to you or to a third party. We will provide to you, or a third party you have chosen, your personal data in a structured, commonly used, machine-readable format. Note that this right only applies to automated information which

If you wish to exercise any of the rights set out above, please contact us at privacy@scandit.com or as set out above.

No fee usually required

You will not have to pay a fee to access your personal data (or to exercise any of the other rights). However, we may charge a reasonable fee if your request is clearly unfounded, repetitive or excessive. Alternatively, we may refuse to comply with your request in these circumstances.

What we may need from you

We may need to request specific information from you to help us confirm your identity and ensure your right to access your personal data (or to exercise any of your other rights). This is a security measure to ensure that personal data is not disclosed to any person who has no right to receive it. We may also contact you to ask you for further information in relation to your request to speed up our response.

Time limit to respond

We try to respond to all legitimate requests within one month. Occasionally it may take us longer than a month if your request is particularly complex or you have made a number of requests. In this case, we will notify you and keep you updated.
