PRIVACY AND COOKIES

Updated on December 19, 2023

Privacy Statement

1. About This Privacy Statement and Trip.com
   - When Does This Privacy Statement Apply?
   - Trip.com
2. About Your Personal Information and Uses
   - What Personal Information Does Trip.com Collect on Me and Others?
   - What Personal Information Does Trip.com Disclose for a Business Purpose?
   - How Does Trip.com Collect My Personal Information?
   - How Does Trip.com Use My Personal Information?
   - How Does Trip.com Share My Information?
3. What are My Rights?
   - Erasure, Access, and Others
   - How Can I Lodge a Complaint?
4. Use of This Website by Children
5. Information Security and Protection
6. Modification of Privacy Statement

Welcome to Trip.com! This Privacy Statement, together with our Cookie Statement and Terms and Conditions, sets out the approach that we at Trip.com take with regards to the collection and handling of any identifiable information about you, and applies to all Trip.com websites (including any affiliated sites), mobile apps, and other services operated by us (hereafter collectively referred to as the “Services”).
We understand that providing information online involves a great deal of trust on your part. We take this trust very seriously and make it a high priority to ensure the security and confidentiality of the personal information you provide us when you visit our website or use our Services. Before providing us with your personal information, please read this Privacy Statement carefully to learn about our privacy practices.

About This Privacy Statement and Trip.com

When Does This Privacy Statement Apply?

This Privacy Statement applies to information about you as an identifiable person that Trip.com or its mobile application collects from, or about you. This Privacy Statement does not apply to anonymous data that cannot identify you in any way.
This website may contain links to third-party websites. Trip.com is not responsible for the privacy practices or the content of these third-party websites. We recommend that you carefully read the privacy statements of such sites.

Trip.com

Trip.com is operated by Trip.com Travel Singapore Pte. Ltd., a limited liability company with its address at 30 Raffles Place, #29-01 Singapore 048622. We are a global online travel agency.

About Your Personal Information and Uses

What Personal Information Does Trip.com Collect on Me and Others?

We collect the following personal information on you and others (set out in the categories established by the California Consumer Privacy Act):
Identifiers, such as: your name; address; email address; phone number; a unique personal or online identifier; an IP address; an account name or ID document / passport number.
Personal information, such as: insurance policy number; bank account number, credit card number, debit card number, or any other financial information; or medical information or health insurance information (when fulfilling your travel requests for disability considerations and dietary preferences).
Your date of birth and gender (we may collect information on other protected classifications when fulfilling your individual travel requests such as dietary preferences)
Internet or other similar network activity, including:
Device information or software information, such as your IP address, software version and device identifier (IDFA / IMEI) of the mobile device you use, and configurations of the web browser or mobile device you use to access our services.

- Information that is searched for or browsed when you use our services, such as web pages used or terms searched and pages visited through the app, as well as other information browsed or provided when using our services.
- Information contained in the content you share through our services, such as a photo shared or uploaded, comments, and dates and times, etc.
- Information on your preferences, such as language, region and currency.

Geolocation data, which we collect when you turn on your device’s location feature and use our location-based services. This includes your geographical position information collected via GPS or WIFI, your address information contained in the account information you provide to us, and shared information uploaded by you or others showing your current or previous location. You can turn off the location feature to prevent us from collecting your location information.
Audio information, when we record phone conversations, when you call us and when you answer our calls. Additionally, we may integrate calling services into our platforms to enable you to connect with us, and when we do, we receive metadata about the call activities (such as where you called from, who you are, and the date and length of the call).

What Personal Information Does Trip.com Disclose for a Business Purpose?

We disclose the following personal information for a business purpose (set out in the categories established by the California Consumer Privacy Act):

- Identifiers, such as: your name; address; email address; phone number; a unique personal or online identifier; an IP address; an account name or ID document number or passport number.
- Personal information, such as: insurance policy number; bank account number, credit card number, debit card number, or any other financial information; or medical information or health insurance information (when fulfilling your travel requests for disability considerations and dietary preferences).
- Your date of birth and gender (we may collect information on other protected classifications when fulfilling your individual travel requests such as dietary preferences)

- Internet or other similar network activity, including:

Device information or software information, such as your IP address, software version and device identifier (IDFA) of the mobile device you use, and configurations of the web browser or mobile device you use to access our services.
Information that is searched for or browsed when you use our services, such as web pages used or terms searched and pages visited through the app, as well as other information browsed or provided when using our services.
Information contained in the content you share through our services, such as a photo shared or uploaded, comments, and dates and times, etc.

- Information on your preferences, such as language, region and currency.Geolocation data, which we collect when you turn on your device's location feature and use our location-based services. This includes your geographical position information collected via GPS or WIFI, your address information contained in the account information you provide to us, and shared information uploaded by you or others showing your current or previous location. You can turn off the location feature to prevent us from collecting your location information.
- Audio information, when we record phone conversations, when you call us and when you answer our calls. Additionally, we may integrate calling services into our platforms to enable you to connect with us, and when we do, we receive metadata about the call activities (such as where you called from, who you are, and the date and length of the call).

How Does Trip.com Collect My Personal Information?

We Collect Information Directly From You
Trip.com collects and uses the information you provide to us directly in order to provide you with the services you request. For example, when you:

- register a Trip.com account;
- book and pay for a travel product, such as a hotel, car rental or a flight, train or attraction ticket;
- get in touch with our customer services team, or reach out to us through other means (such as through social media) – this includes recording phone conversations, when you call us and when you answer our calls; or
- participate in referral programs or sweepstakes, or provide us with feedback on or ask for help with our services.

You may be travelling with other guests or make a booking on someone else's behalf, in which case you will provide their personal information to Trip.com. However, we would like to remind you that it is your responsibility to ensure that the person or people whose personal information you have provided are aware that you've done so, and have agreed to your sharing of their personal information with Trip.com for these purposes.
We Collect Information Automatically
Trip.com collects some information about you automatically. Specifically, the geolocation data, audio information and internet or other similar network activity information set out in section "What Personal Information Does Trip.com Hold on Me and Others?" above. We collect this information through cookies, a web beacon, or other channels when you use our services. More information on how we use cookies can we found in our Cookie Statement below.
We Collect Information Through Other Sources
We will obtain some information from affiliates and business partners. For example, when you make a booking or reservation through the website or mobile app of one of our affiliates or business partners. Also, we allow you to log into Trip.com with your social media account, and with your consent (you grant authorization to the social platform), your personal information will be shared with us through that social platform.

How Does Trip.com Use My Personal Information?

- Trip.com will generally collect and use your personal information for the following business and commercial purposes:

1. To fulfil a contract, or take steps linked to a contract: The use of your information may be necessary to perform the contract that you have with us, including:
1) Providing services to you: We will use your personal information to complete and manage your online booking. In addition, we will provide you with related products and services through affiliates, business partners, and third parties.
2) Fulfilling obligations: Dealing with insurance claims and payments that occur under relevant policies, processing commissions paid to partners, claiming for loss caused by service partners, or recovering payments made etc.

2. For business purposes. In particular:

1) Account management: You can create a Trip.com account and we will use the information you provide to manage your account and provide you with practical features. You can use your account for various operations, such as managing bookings, adjusting personal settings, adding frequently used passenger information, checking past bookings, evaluating orders, and managing payments, etc.
2) Responding to your inquiries and requests: We provide customer service in multiple languages to offer help when you need it.
3) Marketing activities: Where you have a Trip.com account, we will also use your personal information for marketing purposes, such as sending you information and promotional activities on travel products or services that may interest you. You may also have subscribed to receive electronic direct marketing content in relation to our products and services, or other products and services provided by our affiliates and partners. You can opt out of receiving any non-essential emails, including marketing emails, by: contacting us; clicking the unsubscribe link contained at the bottom of such emails; or, by adjusting the notification settings in your account profile on the Trip.com website or app.
4) Contacting you: Responding to and dealing with your questions or requests, sending booking-related messages (such as messages telling you of a successfully submitted booking, messages reminding you to complete unfinished bookings, etc.). We may also send you questionnaires or invite you to provide feedback on our services, etc.
5) Market research: We will sometimes invite you to participate in market research to better understand your interest in our products, services, and websites.
6) Improving service security and reliability: We may detect and prevent fraud and illegal activities and use your personal information for risk assessment and security purposes. If you are using our app, it will send us error-reporting information in the event that it crashes or hangs. This enables us to investigate the error and to improve the stability of the app for future releases.
7) Data analysis: We may use your personal information for analysis so that we can get to know your location, your preferences, and demographic information, or match it with the data obtained from other sources (including third parties), to develop our products and services or marketing plans, and to improve our services.
8) Daily operations: Including but not limited to booking management, customer verification, technical support, network maintenance, troubleshooting, internal administrative affairs, internal policies and procedures, and producing internal reports.
9) Monitoring:

- We monitor customer accounts to prevent, investigate and/or report fraud, terrorism, misrepresentation, security incidents or crime, in accordance with applicable law.
- Your phone conversations with our customer service staff, both answering our calls and calling us, may also be recorded. We may rely on these recordings to monitor the quality of our customer service, check the accuracy of the information you provide to prevent fraud, or serve the purpose of internal staff training.
- We monitor your use of our website or app, to help us refine and improve the way our website or app works.

10) Reviews and feedbacks:

- We display guest reviews on the related accommodation information page on our websites, on our mobile apps, on our social media accounts and social media apps, or on the website of the related accommodation or business partner's website. This is to inform other travelers about the quality of the travel product you used, the destination you chose, or the other services you have used.
- We will also aggregate your guest review data with feedback from other customers in order to sort and prioritize guest reviews. We may use the information in your reviews or in other destination-related information you share with us in an anonymous form, unless you have included this information in your public profile. This is to help travelers like you find the right destination and the best accommodation to suit them.

11) Payment verification: If you use a credit or debit card as payment, we also use third parties to check the validity of the sort code, account number, and card number you submit in order to prevent fraud.
12) Investigations and complaints management: We use information you provide to investigate any complaints received from you or from others about our website, or our products and services. We also use data in connection with legal claims, compliance, regulatory and investigative purposes as necessary (including the disclosure of such information in connection with legal process or litigation).

3. For purposes which are required by law:

Legal purposes: In certain cases, we may need to use your information to handle and resolve legal disputes, regulatory investigations and compliance, respond to requests by government or law enforcement authorities conducting an investigation, or to enforce the Terms and Conditions in connection with any Services provided by Trip.com as reasonably expected.

How Does Trip.com Share My Information?

We may share your booking information, account information, device information, and location information with affiliate companies within our corporate family and third parties, such as the partners detailed below, to ensure the successful provision of services to you. Our partners include the following types:

- Providers: including but not limited to hotels, airlines, cruise lines, car rental agencies, travel agencies, scenic spot operators, and event providers and agents that meet your booking needs. These providers may contact you as needed to provide you with travel products or services. These providers are not controlled by Trip.com and personal information disclosed to them is subject to the applicable provider's privacy statement and security practices. Therefore, we encourage you to review the privacy policies of any travel provider whose products you purchase through Trip.com.
- Third party vendors: We may work with third party vendors under contract to us to provide services or functions on our behalf, including credit card processing, business analytics, customer service, marketing, distribution of surveys or sweepstakes, and fraud prevention. We may also authorize third-party vendors to collect information on our behalf, including information necessary for us to operate the features of our website or to facilitate the delivery of online advertising tailored to your interests. Third-party vendors have access to and may collect information only as needed to perform their functions and are not permitted to share or use the information for any other purpose.
- Financial institutions and third-party payment agencies: When you place a booking, apply for a refund, or purchase insurance, we will share the related information with the relevant financial institutions or the third-party payment agencies, and as we believe is necessary for fraud detection and prevention, we will further share other necessary information (i.e. email address, phone number, and IP address) with the relevant financial institutions.
- Business partners: with whom we may jointly offer products or services, or whose products or services may be offered on our websites or apps. You may tell when a third party is involved in a product or service you have requested because their name will appear, either alone or with ours. If you choose to access these optional products or services, we may share information about you, including your personal information, with those partners. Please note that we do not control the privacy practices of these third-party business partners.
- Affiliated companies within our corporate family: We may share your personal information with our affiliated companies so that we best provide you with the requested service as well as information about other travel-related products and services. All parts of our company provide similar protection measures for your personal information that are no less stringent than this Privacy Statement.

We may share your personal information in the context of complying with legal obligations, to protect our or your interests in legal matters, and in the case of a merger or acquisition.
We may share your personal information by selling it to third parties, subject to your right to opt-out of those sales. Our personal information sales do not include information about individuals we know are under the age of 16. In the preceding 12 months, we may have sold online identifiers to advertising service providers to allow us to personalize the adverts that we show you. To opt-out of these sales, please go to https://us.trip.com/pages/treatyforcookie.

What are My Rights?

This section is for California residents.

Erasure, Access, and Others

If you wish to delete your Trip.com account information, you may call our customer support (https://pages.trip.com/service-guideline/contact-us-en-us.html) noted on Trip.com's official website, and follow the instruction to be put through to a customer service specialist who will help you delete your account information after completing a verification process. After the deletion, we will no longer collect, use, or share any personal information related to this account.
You can request that we delete your personal information if you no longer want us to use your information to provide services to you.
In addition, you can request:

- the categories of personal information collected about you in the 12 months preceding you request;
- the categories of sources for that personal information collected;
- the business or commercial purposes for collecting that personal information;
- the categories of third parties with whom we share that personal information;
- a copy of the specific pieces of personal information collected; and
- a list of the personal information we disclosed for business purpose, by category of personal information and by category of recipient, identifying the personal information categories that each recipient category obtained in the previous 12 months.

The rights listed above may not apply in all cases. For example, if you ask us to delete information which we are required by law to keep or have compelling legitimate interests in keeping, we may not be able to delete all of your personal information, in which case we will inform you of the relevant exceptions.
To address any privacy or security questions or concerns, or to make any of these requests, please contact us with details about your request at sg_dataprotection@trip.com.

We will respond to your above requests without undue delay. Trip.com shall take reasonable steps to verify customer identity before taking further action on your request:

- Where you have a Trip.com account, we will ask you to:
  1. Log out of your account and log back in within 24 hours.
  2. Where you have placed an order, provide us with 2 pieces of information of your recent order(s) (i.e. departure date or city, check-in date or hotel name, guest name).
  3. Provide a scanned copy of your passport or government issued ID.

If you have an associated account (for example, you have logged in to Trip.com via a social media account), we will also ask you to log in and update the "name" section of your personal profile to a unique verification code that we will provide to you.

- Where you do not have a Trip.com account, we will ask you to:
  1. Provide us with 2 pieces of information of your recent order(s) (i.e. departure date or city, check-in date or hotel name, guest name).
  2. Provide a scanned copy of your passport or government issued ID.

Where an authorised agent is making a request on your behalf, we will ask for proof of their authority, such as a copy of their power of attorney.
Trip.com will not discriminate against you for exercising any of your rights under this section.

How Can I Lodge a Complaint?

We are committed to investigating and resolving complaints about our collection or use of your personal information. To make a complaint, contact us at sg_dataprotection@trip.com.
Clearly provide the following information to help us address the issue effectively:

- The specific data privacy complaint (please provide as much detail as possible including country, your understanding of the data privacy infringement, and redress requested);
- Your full name and how we can contact you;
- Any previous correspondence on this specific data privacy issue.
- We aim to resolve all issues in a timely manner, or as mandated by applicable law, but if this is not possible because a more detailed investigation is required, we will keep in regular contact with you to ensure that you are kept informed of the resolution of your matter.

Use of This Website by Children

This website is not intended for anyone under the age of 16 years old. If you are under 16, you may not register with, or use this website.

Information Security and Protection

Trip.com attaches great importance to information security and has set up a dedicated team for this. We strive to protect your personal information and have taken appropriate managerial, technological, and physical security measures.
In terms of the data life cycle, we have established security measures for all stages including data collection, storage, display, processing, use, and destruction. We take different control measures according to the level of information sensitivity, including but not limited to access control, SSL encryption transmission, and high-level encryption algorithms for encrypted storage, in order to mask the sensitive information to be displayed, etc.

Notwithstanding the foregoing security measures, please also understand that there are no “perfect security measures” for the internet. We rely on currently available technologies and take appropriate security measures to protect your information.
Your account has in-built security features. You are advised to properly safeguard your account and password and do not disclose your password to any person. If you discover your personal information has been leaked, especially your account and password, please contact our customer service staff immediately so that we can take the appropriate measures.
In the unlikely event of a data breach affecting your personal information, we will inform you in accordance with laws and regulations by email or other means.

Modification of Privacy Statement

Trip.com will modify this Privacy Statement when necessary. Please understand that we may revise this Privacy Statement at times as we consider appropriate. We will note the date of the latest update of this Privacy Statement and the update will take effect when it is published. Trip.com will not reduce your rights under this Privacy Statement. Trip.com will prominently post major changes made (for example, for changes concerning certain services, we will inform you via email of the specific changes in the Privacy Statement). Therefore, you should review this Privacy Statement periodically to keep up with our most current policies.

Cookie Statement

We use cookies to deliver our services and to help us improve our website.

What is a cookie?

A cookie is a small text file that we store on your computer when you use our website. To learn more about cookies, please go to www.aboutcookies.org.

What cookies does Trip.com use?

We use the following cookies:

Essential cookies

- These are cookies that our website cannot operate without. They include, for e.g., cookies that enable you to log into secure areas of our website, use a shopping cart and pay for travel products.

Non-essential cookies

- Functionality cookies: These are used to recognise you when you return to our website. This enables us to personalise our content for you and remember your preferences (for e.g., your choice of language, region and currency).
- Analytics cookies: These allow us to count the number of visitors to our website and to see how they move around it. This helps us improve the way our website works, for e.g., by ensuring that users are finding what they are looking for easily.
- Targeting cookies: These cookies record your visit to our website, the pages you have visited and the internal links you have followed. We will use this information to make our website and the travel products we display to you more relevant to your interests.
- Advertising cookies: These allow us to personalise the adverts that we show you and that you see across the internet. To opt-out of these cookies, please go to https://us.trip.com/pages/treatyforcookie.

We use session and persistent cookies. Session cookies are deleted when you close your browser. Persistent cookies remain on your computer and are activated the next time you visit our website.

Copyright © 2025 Trip.com Travel Singapore Pte. Ltd. All rights reserved
Site Operator: Trip.com Travel Singapore Pte. Ltd.