to access the Services, email newsletters, podcast subscription services, marketing messages, benefits provided by us on behalf of or in collaboration with a third-party partner, digital platforms, or other services provided by us that link to or refer to this Privacy Policy. This policy also explains how personal information may be used and shared and the choices you have to limit certain uses or sharing of that information.

This Privacy Policy applies only to the Services and is separate and distinct from the privacy policies governing the websites, applications and services of third parties that may link to or be linked from the Services.

By using, registering for, purchasing a membership, or otherwise accessing our content or services, you agree to this Privacy Policy and the Terms of Use and give your express consent (or “opt in”) to the collection, use, sharing and processing of your personal information in accordance with this policy. If you do not agree with the provisions of this policy, you may not use or access the Services, so please do not use, register for or access any of the Services, or provide personal information. You cannot opt out of this Privacy Policy nor have it removed once you use the Services.

Tinkercast may modify, add, or delete portions of this Privacy Policy from time to time in its sole discretion. Any changes to this Privacy Policy will be posted to this page, with an updated Effective Date noted. You are responsible for reviewing this Privacy Policy for any changes before using, registering for or accessing our Services. Your continued use of the Services constitutes your consent to and acceptance of the Privacy Policy in effect at the time of such use.

If you have questions about this Privacy Policy, please contact us.

b. Automatically Collected Information. Tinkercast, our service providers, and vendors use various technologies to automatically collect certain information about your computer or device and your interactions with the Services. These technologies may include using cookies, pixels tags (aka web beacons), and other tracking technologies. These technologies do not record your name, address, email address, credit card information, or other similar personally-identifying information. However, they do collect the following information for each User who accesses the Services, which allows us to make our Services more useful to you:
    - The Internet Protocol address (IP address) of the machine or device used to access the Services or play podcasts or other media content downloaded through our Services.
    - The domain name of your Internet Service Provider.
    - General location information (based on IP address or latitude and longitude).
    - The dates, times, duration, frequency, and other details of your interactions with our Services.
    - Search terms you use while using the Services or on a referring website.
    - The path taken through the Services and patterns in the way you move through our Services.
    - Other content preferences
    - The browser and operating system being used.
    - A list of files downloaded or viewed.
    - The amount of time spent listening to or viewing files or pages.
    - Your approximate geographic location information (derived from your IP address) and/or more precise information about the specific location of your device if you have given us explicit consent to receive this information for a Tinkercast application on your mobile device.
    - The make, model, carrier and unique device identifier for your mobile device, the unique advertising identifier (for example, Google Advertising ID) that allows mobile applications running on your mobile device to gather data for purposes of serving targeted advertising or personalized or “interest-based” advertising and other information about your computer or mobile device and its browser, operating system, settings

    - Information about your interactions with our email messages, such as links you click on and whether you open or forward a message, the date and time of these interactions, and information about the computer or device you use to read emails.
    - Any errors encountered during your use of our Services.

The third-party vendors we use to measure and analyze use of the Services also use their own cookies. In addition, we may work with third-party vendors which may serve advertising or other messages to you on other websites after you visit the Services. These third-party vendors use their own cookies to recognize you as a visitor or User of the Services and serve you advertising or other messages on other websites that they believe you will find most relevant. This Privacy Policy does not cover the cookies used by any of these or other third-party vendors.

We use third-party services, such as analytics, cookie data collection (including cookie identifiers), and linking services (collectively, "Analytics & Advertising Services"). These Analytics & Advertising Services may include:

- Google Analytics 4, Google Tag Manager, and the services of our other vendors. These Analytics & Advertising Services may use cookies, pixel tags, hash values, and other tracking and storage technologies to collect, receive, or share information (this shared information does not include your unhashed name or email address you register with Tinkercast) from our Services and elsewhere on the Internet and use that information to analyze and measure our audience and target and evaluate the effectiveness of advertising and marketing messages in our Services.
- In connection with an affiliate-marketing relationship with platforms such as Wondery or online retailers, third-party analytics services working with us and such platforms or online retailers may also use cookies to uniquely identify the browsers of (i) Users who click on marketing messages we display to promote our podcasts available through Spotify, Wondery, Appl personal information and will not be used by vendors to determine your name or email address, or to otherwise directly identify you. The identification code may be shared with advertising vendors to enable “interest-based” and targeted advertising and marketing messages.

- In addition, we may use analytics data, including but not limited to, geographic, demographic, and interest reporting information to recognize and understand User preferences, make improvements, and for other operational purposes.

An Analytics & Advertising Service’s ability to use and share information is covered by that service’s terms of use and privacy policy. To learn more about how Google uses data, visit https://policies.google.com/technologies/partner-sites.

If you wish to prevent certain or all cookies and web beacons from being set to your hard drive or device, or to clear existing cookies from your browser’s or device’s cache, you may be able to disable them in your browser’s or device’s preferences, although your browser or device might then be unable to accommodate certain functionalities on the Services.

Do Not Track. Some Internet browsers can be configured to send “Do Not Track” signals to the online services that you visit. We currently do not respond to “Do Not Track” or similar signals. To find out more about “Do Not Track,” please visit http://www.allaboutdnt.com.

c. Information We Obtain From Other Sources We may receive Personal Information about you from other sources, including third-party analytics providers and social media-owned databases, including via your interaction with our social media pages (this includes aggregate data on our social media followers (e.g., age, gender and location), engagement data (e.g., “likes,” comments, shares, reposts and clicks), awareness data (e.g., number of impressions and reach) and individual Users’ public profiles.
    - Platform single sign-on and sharing tools. Our Services allow Users to sign into their Tinkercast accounts using their credentials from platforms such as Google (an “SSO Provider“). If you sign into our Services through an SSO Provider, we will receive your email address and certain profile information from such SSO Provider in accordance wi privacy settings. Any infor may depend on the privac please consult the applica how to manage these sett share stories or other con Provider’s platform such a information you share ma privacy policy.

We use cookies to enhance your browsing experience, serve personalized ads or content, and analyze our traffic. By clicking "Accept All", you consent to our use of cookies.

3. Children's Privacy. Although the Services are intended to be used by persons aged 18 and above, Tinkercast celebrates children of all ages and must set boundaries regarding use of the Services by children under 18 years of age. We do not permit individuals under the age of 18 to create an account and do not knowingly collect personal information from persons under the age of 18.

Children under the age of 18 must obtain permission from a parent or guardian before using the Services, using the Website "Contact Us" function or otherwise sending any personally-identifying information through the Services. If we become aware that we have collected personal information from a child under the age of 18, we will handle such personal information in accordance with the principles of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act of 1998 ("COPPA"), as amended from time to time (e.g., obtain parental consent, delete the personal information).

We may collect the following personal information from parents or guardians about children who are under the age of 13 to enable the parent or guardian to register to participate in contests, play games, submit content, interact with or share online content, receive our newsletter or other communications and more:

- Parent's or guardian's name
- Parent's or guardian's email address
- Telephone number
- Child's first name
- Child's date of birth or age
- Child's hometown
- Child's home state

We may share or disclose the personal information provided by parents or guardians about children under the age of 18 in the following circumstances: (a) if required to do so by law or if we believe in good faith that such disclosure is necessary to comply with the law or with legal process, (b) to protect ag requiring the completion and return of a consent form. If we request and we do not receive parental consent by the deadline stated in the request or, if no deadline is stated, within a reasonable time following the date of the request, we will delete the contact information and related information collected from or about the child, if any.

Parents and guardians may contact us to review, update or delete any personal information that we may have collected about their children and to elect for us not to collect any additional personal information about their children. Please see Section 2.b. above to learn more about information that is automatically collected.

Although Tinkercast does not currently permit Users of the Services to post information to the Website, if that feature becomes available, California minors under 18 years old may request the removal of any information that they post to the Website by contacting us at the email address provided in Section 14. Upon such request, Tinkercast will remove from public view any content posted by a minor to the Website, unless required by law to retain such content or information.

4. When the Services Are Used by Schools. When the Services are used by providers of educational services, such as schools, school districts, teachers, and authorized school Users and administrators (each a "School" and collectively the "Schools") for educational purposes, Tinkercast relies solely on the teacher(s) and School(s) to obtain appropriate parental consent from each student and to provide a copy of such consent to us prior to providing any personal information about children under the age of 18. In fact, each Teacher and/or School must represent and warrant, to the extent required by applicable laws that they or their School has (a) notified each Student's parents or legal guardians of the use of third party services, including Tinkercast's, and the potential disclosure of Student Data in connection therewith and (b) obtained the appropriate consent(s) from the parents or legal guardians of each Student. Tinkercast's collection and use of any student data is governed by our contracts with the Schools and our Terms of Use, as well as any applicable privacy laws such as COPPA. If you were given access to the Services by the School you are affiliated with, this policy does not govern how your school might collect, use, or disclose your information. a. Student Data
General. A "Student" is a child Schools that use the TinkerClass feature of the Services, or (b) the class of a teacher personally identifies a Student, such as grades, name, image (e.g. photograph or screenshot of a student), voice, and likeness (e.g., a visual image of any kind (photo, drawing, caricature, computer avatar) that evokes the student's identity in the eyes of the public) but does not include De-Identified Data (as defined below). The Student Data Tinkercast collects, if any, is provided by Schools and/or teachers that are responsible for obtaining consent from each Student's parent or guardian before providing Student Data to us and that also use the Services and submit User Materials (as defined in the Terms of Use). Tinkercast will only collect and use Student Data as set forth in this Privacy Policy and the Terms of Use, when necessary to fulfill Tinkercast's obligations to the teacher or School and/or to provide and improve the Services.

We will not build personal profiles from Student Data, use it to advertise or market to students on the Services, use it for any other commercial purpose unless authorized by the School or permitted by applicable law, or sell it unless the sale is part of a corporate transaction (e.g., merger, acquisition, bankruptcy, or other sale of assets), in which case we will require the new owner to continue to honor the terms provided in this Privacy Policy. Finally, we will not make material changes to this Privacy Policy or our contract(s) with the School(s) that relate to how we collect and use Student Data without notifying the School(s).

b. How We Share and Disclose Student Data. We disclose Student Data solely as needed to provide the Services on behalf of specific Schools in accordance with our contractual agreements with those Schools. Please note that Student Data and teacher account usage data may be disclosed to or accessible by Users with administrator privileges on an account or who are authorized to use the Services on behalf of a School. Student Data may also be accessible to anyone who accesses your account with your login credentials. To avoid unauthorized access to Student Data, please do not distribute your login credentials and keep all login information secure. We may also disclose Student Data to our trusted service providers who have a legitimate need to access such information on our behalf, subject to appropriate contractual terms to protect such data. Furthermore, we may disclose Student Data in connection with a business transaction or to support our legal rights and obligations, as described under Section 6 b School Requests. Tinkercast will make Student Data available upon a verified request by the School or teacher who provided such Student Data or who would otherwise have verified authority to receive such Student Data.

License to Use Student Data. Student Data made available to Tinkercast in any manner, including on or through the Services, is considered User Material that is subject to the terms and conditions set forth in Section 7 of the Terms of Use, unless otherwise prohibited by law.

c. How We Retain and Secure Student Data. If Tinkercast collects Student Data, we will store and process it in accordance with standard practices in the podcast industry. We will promptly notify the relevant teachers or Schools of any incident involving a breach of security, privacy, or personal information involving such School's or teacher's Students.

Return/Destruction of Student Data. Upon request by the School or Teacher, if legally permitted, Tinkercast will destroy and request that subcontractors and/or agents destroy Student Data in its/their possession when such Student Data is no longer needed by Tinkercast.

5. How We Use the Personal Information We Collect

Tinkercast and service providers and vendors also may use the information collected through our Services to perform contractual obligations under our Terms of Use, including:

- To manage, administer and deliver the Services.
- To publish, broadcast, attribute and otherwise use and license any User Materials you submit according to our Terms of Use.
- To fulfill your Tinkercast Shop orders and other requests.
- To offer you access to events and special programs.
- To manage contests, sweepstakes, and promotions you enter.

purposes. For example, we may share or authorize the collection of such information by service providers or vendors that help us analyze and improve our Services, provide us and other digital media organizations with ratings and ranking data, or help us to create personalized content.

We, our service providers, and our third-party advertising or marketing vendors may collect and use personal information for the following marketing, advertising, analytics, and operational purposes, on the basis of our legitimate business interests or consent where required by law:

- To provide personalized, “interest-based” or “cross-contextual” digital advertising and marketing messages.
- To recognize you as the same User when you access our Services, content, marketing messages and advertising using different computers, devices and browsers, and to deliver our Services, content, marketing messages and advertising to you on different computers, devices and browsers.
- To send you Tinkercast email newsletters and other communications, including marketing, membership and other messages from us or our partners.
- To conduct market or audience analysis and related reporting, including attribution, conversion, and other analysis to evaluate the performance of advertising and marketing messages.
- To help us measure and analyze user traffic and usage patterns and improve the quality and effectiveness of content, features, advertising, marketing messages and other communications.

Where we seek your consent, you may withdraw your consent at any time.

We use personal information for compliance and protection purposes in our legitimate business interests, including:

agents, and contractors, and their respective employees, sponsors, service providers and others, or (d) to enforce the Terms of Use. We may also disclose this information to provide you with the services or products that you request. If you do not want your personally-identifying information to be collected or used for any of these purposes, please do not provide it.

a. The public or other individuals. Any User Materials you submit through our Contact Us page, social media services or similar features can be seen, collected and used by us and anyone else who has access to the applicable service. Any User Materials you submit may also be freely used and shared by Tinkercast, its partners, and our and their respective licensees in accordance with our Terms of Use. You may also choose to share stories or other content with your friends and followers on social media services. In addition, we may share your information with other individuals at your direction. For example, if you use our Services to email or text a story to a friend, we will disclose your name to that friend together with the content you directed us to send.
b. Authorized service providers. We may share any information we collect with service providers who provide us with specialized services or otherwise help us operate our Services including, without limitation, service providers that provide customer support, email deployment, account sign-in services, subscription services, payment processing, order fulfillment, analytics, marketing, advertisements, contest management and data processing services.
c. Financial Information. You must be at least 18 years of age to engage in money-related transactions on the Services. When engaging in money-related transactions, you may be asked to enter a credit card number or debit card number. The financial information provided will be collected and controlled by the payment processor and not by Tinkercast and will be subject to each payment service provider's privacy policy and practices.
d. Advertising and marketing vendors. Subject to applicable law and your opt-out choices described below, and as we deem appropriate, we may share with advertisers and marketing vendors, including those who provide digital advertising and marketing messages for us, or allow them to directly collect information about your devices and your use of our Services. not responsible for the privacy practices of any third party application, and we recommend that you familiarize yourself with the privacy policies of any third-party sites, applications, platforms, and services that you visit or access.

f. Legal requirements. We may share information with our professional advisors, such as lawyers, auditors, bankers and insurers, where necessary, in the course of the professional services that they render to us. We and service providers and vendors may also disclose any collected information to respond to subpoenas, court orders, legal process, and other law enforcement measures, and to comply with legal or regulatory obligations.

g. Business transfers. We may share any collected information in connection with a substantial corporate transaction, such as the sale of a Service, a merger, a consolidation, an asset sale, or in the unlikely event of bankruptcy.

h. Protect our Services and Users. We and our service providers and vendors may disclose any collected information to enforce our Terms of Use and to protect and defend the legal rights, interests, and safety of Tinkercast, its partners, and their respective employees, agents, contractors, advertisers, listeners, members, users, members of the general public, or others.

i. Podcast producers. We may share with third-party producers ("Content Providers") listening, usage and other data that does not identify you that we collect through your interaction with the podcasts and other media files produced by those third-party producers.

j. Aggregated and anonymous information. Subject to applicable law and your opt-out choices described below, and as we deem appropriate, we may share with third parties or allow them to collect directly aggregated or other information that is not reasonably linkable to you or your devices. These third parties may use such information pursuant to their own respective privacy policies, which we do not control. For example, we may share or authorize the collection of such information by service providers or vendors that help us analyze and improve our Services, provide us and other digital media organizations with ratings and ranking data, or help us to create personalized content. We may also share or authorize the collection of such information by advertisers to help them measure the impact of their advertising campaigns.

We use cookies to enhance your browsing experience, serve personalized ads or content, and analyze our traffic. By clicking "Accept All", you consent to our use of cookies.

Tinkercast refers to all these technologies collectively as “cookies.”

Cookies can be “first-party” or “third-party” depending on the domain that sets them.

- First-party cookies. These cookies are set by Tinkercast and information collected from these cookies is used by us in accordance with the terms of this Privacy Policy.
- Third-party cookies. These cookies are set by another party’s website (so not our website) and information is collected and used in accordance with that party’s policies.

First-party and third-party cookies can be either “session” or “persistent” cookies depending on their duration, and our website uses both persistent and session cookies.

- Session Cookies. These cookies are temporary cookies that remain on your computer or device until you leave our website. They allow our website to link your actions during a browser session. We may use these for a variety of purposes such as remembering what you clicked on, or the previous page you visited. A session starts when a User opens a browser window and ends when the browser window is closed, following which all session cookies expire and are deleted;
- Persistent Cookies. These cookies remain on your device for much longer or until you manually delete them (how long the cookie remains on your device will depend on the duration or “lifetime” of the specific cookie, as well as your browser settings). Persistent cookies may be used for a variety of purposes, including remembering users’ preferences and choices when using a site or to target advertising and marketing messages.

You can also control Flash LSOs by going to the Global Storage Settings Panel and following the instructions. Please note that setting the Flash Player to restrict or limit acceptance of Flash LSOs may reduce or impede the functionality of some Flash applications, including, potentially, Flash applications used in connection with certain of the Services.

8. Privacy Rights and Choices You have the following choices to update, correct and limit the collection and use of information gathered through our Services.

COOKIE PREFERENCES

- Manage cookie settings and opt out of interest-based advertising and marketing messages on the Website. You can manage your cookie settings, including accepting or rejecting cookies, by clicking the “Cookie Preferences” link at the bottom of each page on the Site. Clicking on that link, and following the instructions, will also allow you to opt out of the sharing of your information with our advertising vendors for delivery of “interest-based” advertising and marketing messages on Tinkercast.com. If you opt out, those vendors may continue to serve you non-personalized, non-interest-based advertisements and marketing messages on the Website. Note that this opt out is a cookie-based process and will only affect the specific computer, device, and browser on which your opt-out choice is applied. If you subsequently delete your browser cookies or if your browser cookies expire, you will need to opt out again.

- Blocking advertising ID use in your mobile settings. Your mobile device settings can provide functionality to limit use of the advertising ID associated with your mobile device for interest-based advertising purposes.

  For iOS mobile devices, go to “Settings” from your device’s home screen, scroll down to find and select “Privacy,” and then select “Tracking” to adjust tracking permission. For Android mobile devices, go to “Google Settings” on your device, select “Ads”; and click the option labeled “Delete

- Update or delete registration information. Sign into your Tinkercast account or contact us to correct or update any registration information you provided to us or to cancel your account or other registrations.

- Opt-out of marketing communications. You can stop the delivery of marketing, membership, newsletter, and other emails from Tinkercast by following the unsubscribe instructions in any such email you receive or by contacting us. You may continue to receive Services-related and other non-marketing emails.

9. Sensitive Data. Aside from collecting information about your specific geolocation with your permission, Tinkercast does not knowingly collect or sell sensitive data about your racial or ethnic origin, religious beliefs, health or health care, sexual orientation, immigration status, genetic or biometric data.

10. Notice of Nevada Privacy Rights. We do not sell consumers' covered information for monetary consideration (as defined in Chapter 603A of the Nevada Revised Statutes). However, if you are a Nevada resident, you have the right to submit a request directing us not to sell your personal information. To submit such a request, please contact us.

11. State Data Privacy Laws. Some U.S. states (e.g., California, Nevada, Texas, Utah, Virginia, etc.) have data privacy laws that grant residents the right to make requests regarding how their personal information is collected, used, and shared. Currently, Tinkercast is not subject to the data privacy laws in California, Colorado, Connecticut, Texas, Virginia, and Utah because it does not meet the eligibility requirements or, in the case of Texas, because Tinkercast qualifies as a small business under the Small Business Administration and does not sell sensitive data (as defined under the TDSA). If Tinkercast becomes subject to any state data privacy law, it will update this Privacy Policy and comply with any applicable laws.

12. Exercising the Right to Opt-Out of the Selling or Sharing of Personal Information. Eligible persons may exercise their right to opt out by:

Where permitted by law, you may submit a request through an authorized agent or other legal representative. In those cases, we require the authorized agent or legal representative to provide proof of written permission showing the agent or legal representative has authority to submit a request on your behalf. An authorized agent or legal representative must follow the processes described above to make a request. We may additionally require the authorized agent or legal representative to verify his, her, or their own identity.

13. Security. Tinkercast has procedures in place to safeguard the information that we collect online. However, you should take special care when deciding what information to send to us, since no transmission of data is ever fully secure or error free and most are not encrypted.

14. Links to Third Party Sites. The Services may contain links to other sites, applications and services maintained by third parties. Those third parties have privacy policies that may be very different from this one and may use cookies, collect data, and use the data in ways that we would not. Tinkercast is not responsible for the privacy practices of, or any information or materials on or related to other websites, applications, and services. Therefore, please carefully review each privacy policy.

15. International User Notice. The Services are intended for businesses and individuals controlled, located and operated within the United States. If you are located in a country other than the United States, you should not provide personally-identifying information through the Services. If you provide such information, you acknowledge that it is necessary to internationally transfer and process it in the United States. By submitting User Materials and using the Services, you agree to have your information transferred to and possibly used in the United States as set forth in this policy. You also agree that you are responsible for compliance with applicable laws, including local laws regarding online conduct and content and U.S. export laws and regulations.

16. Changes to Privacy Policy. Tinkercast reserves the right to change this Privacy Policy. Please review this Privacy Policy so you will always know what information is collected and how it is used. Changes to this Services constitutes consent to any
